One Lyon Avenue, Guelph
History of Guelph

Guelph was founded on St. George’s Day, April 23rd, 1827 with the ceremonial felling of a large maple tree by John Galt. Guelph is considered to be one of the first planned towns in Canada and was chosen as the headquarters of a British development firm known as the “Canada Company”.

John Galt, the Company’s Superintendent in Canada and a popular Scottish novelist at the time, chose the location and designed the downtown to resemble a European city centre. Galt’s plan was quite imaginative, based on a series of streets radiating from a focal point at the Speed River, which included squares, broad main streets and narrow side streets, resulting in a variety of block sizes and shapes.

Although the directors of the Canada Company had actually wanted the city to be named Goderich, Galt chose the name Guelph for the new town to honour Britain’s royal family, the Hanoverians, who were descended from the Guelfs, the ancestral family of George IV, the reigning British monarch.

The name Guelph comes from the Italian Guelfo and the Bavarian-Germanic Welf. The family of King George IV was from the House of Hanover, a younger branch of the House of Welf, which was a European dynasty that has included many German and British monarchs from the 11th to 20th century and Emperor Ivan VI of Russia in the 18th century.

The family name had apparently never been used as a place name before and Guelph soon became known as “The Royal City”.

Guelph remained a village until the Grand Trunk Railroad reached it from Toronto in 1856. After this time, many of Guelph’s prominent buildings were erected, a number of which were designed by high profile Toronto-based architects, but most of which were the product of a talented group of local architects, builders and stone carvers who effectively used Guelph’s locally quarried limestone, which today gives a visual unity to the older parts of the City.

In 2006, the community of Guelph proclaimed the first Monday in August, John Galt Day – various celebrations take place in the downtown core.

Enjoy Your Drinking Water on Tap

Since 1880, Guelph Water Services has been providing safe, reliable, cost-effective production and delivery of consistently high-quality water – from source to your home’s tap!

Guelph’s drinking water undergoes more than 20,000 health-related tests each year to ensure it meets the Ontario Drinking Water Quality Standards. Guelph residents can take pride in their drinking water – it continually meets or exceeds these drinking water quality standards.

You can also get Guelph water on the go. Take your water bottle with you and fill up at the Guelph Water Wagon at outdoor community events including Guelph Multicultural Festival, Canada Day in the Park, Art on the Street, and John Galt Day plus other events running throughout the city in the summer months. You can enjoy chilled tap water at community centres, arenas, Riverside Park, the Guelph Farmers’ Market, and other city facilities; plus participating local restaurants, and businesses will fill up your water bottle with tap water free of charge. Just look for the Blue W in businesses windows.

The Blue W program is a not-for-profit initiative, that offers an online directory, a Google map and a Smartphone application to help you find free tap water in the city when you are out and about. www.bluew.org.
Guelph is a groundwater community.

Groundwater, which comes from deep within the ground, takes time to replenish and can be easily overused. The Outside Water Use Program aims to conserve Guelph’s groundwater supply and protect against drought during the hot, dry summer months. The program has three levels that affect residential outside water use:

Look for these road signs showing the most common outside water use permitted activities and restrictions at a glance.

LEVEL 0 BLUE
CAREFUL USE

LEVEL 1 YELLOW
REDUCE USE

LEVEL 2 RED
REDUCE AND STOP NON-ESSENTIAL USE

ALTERNATE DAY AND TIME RESTRICTIONS

Odd numbered houses may water only on odd-numbered calendar days, and even-numbered houses on even-numbered days, only between 7 and 9 a.m. and 7 and 9 p.m. as needed.

storm sewers flow straight into our rivers without treatment?

Pouring chemicals into storm or sanitary sewers, or your household drains is illegal and can harm people, pets and wildlife.

What can I do?
• Report spills immediately to the City at 519-837-5629
• Dispose of household chemicals and hazardous waste free of charge; visit guelph.ca/waste for details

Just one litre of motor oil can contaminate one million litres of water!

Do you live in a house built before 1960?

If you said yes, you may be drinking water coming through lead pipes, and you may not be able to see them. Water pipes run underground from the City’s water main all the way to your house. The only way to check for underground lead pipes is by digging or testing. Thankfully, just a few minutes of your time can provide peace of mind about the health and well-being of your loved ones. A water sample and a quick check is all that’s needed for the City to confirm whether any of your water is coming through lead pipes—and it’s free.

What’s the risk?
Exposure to lead can be harmful to human health, especially for young children, infants, pregnant women, and women who plan to become pregnant.

How do I book my free test?
Call 519-822-1260 x 2263 or email leadtesting@guelph.ca to set up a time that works for you.

HEARD OF FATBERG? Fats, oil and grease clog city sewers.

They also clog your household pipes. This could mean expensive plumbing repairs and even fines.

MYTH: It’s okay to pour grease down the drain with hot water
FACT: Once grease cools it resolidifies in your pipes

MYTH: Dish soap breaks down grease
FACT: Soap breaks up grease temporarily; it resolidifies in your pipes

For more information about sewers visit guelph.ca/wastewater

How to deal with grease and oil

- Never pour grease or oil down drains or into toilets
- Wipe grease off dishes with paper towels or scrape it into your organic waste
- Pour oils or grease into a container and drop it off for free; visit guelph.ca/waste for details

DID YOU KNOW you need to dechlorinate your pool before draining it?

Saltwater pools must be drained to a sanitary sewer but chlorine pools can be drained onto your lawn as long as all the water can be absorbed.

Never drain pools into the road or directly into storm sewers. This untreated water flows straight into our local rivers.

For more information about safely maintaining your pool, visit guelph.ca/wastewater

Food and Dining

All your tastes are covered when it comes to dining out in Guelph – from grabbing a coffee with a friend at one of the many cafes, to enjoying a pint of local craft beer at a pub, to experiencing the range of fine-dining establishments.

The Guelph community embraces local food - there are restaurants offering 100-mile menus, local produce to purchase at the Saturday morning Farmers’ Market, and various local food events to enjoy throughout the year.

Experience the Foods Grown in Wellington County

Finding locally grown food in Guelph and Wellington County is easy. It’s being served up at farm stores, farmers’ markets, restaurants, retail stores, and at community events.

The local food initiative taste•real supports the local businesses, farms and producers who are passionate about the way local food is grown, prepared, and enjoyed.

A variety of taste•real events run throughout the year, including the Local Food Fest, Farmalicious, Field Dinner and the spring and fall Wellington Rural Romp, a self-guided tour to countryside farms, nurseries and local food businesses with educational activities, planting workshops, tastings and more!
Enjoy a Drink with Your Meal

If you enjoy beer, you’ll enjoy Guelph. We are home to three craft breweries – Wellington Brewery, StoneHammer Brewing, and Royal City Brewing Company.

From year-round brews to seasonal specialties, these locally owned craft breweries produce something for everyone. There is the popular Stonehammer Dark and their Oatmeal Coffee Stout, and Wellington Brewery’s Special Pale Ale, ordered by locals as simply SPA. If you like variety Royal City Brewing Co creates unique rotating flavours in small batches.

Visit any of the brewery retail locations or enjoy a glass on tap at many of Guelph’s establishments including downtown’s Woolwich Arrow, Baker Street Station and the Albion, or Borealis and Shakespeare Arms in the south-end.

On a larger scale, Guelph’s Sleeman Breweries has grown to become the third-largest brewer in Canada. A company that dates back to 1851, the brewery re-opened in 1988 and has expanded their portfolio of brands through the merging of three of Canada’s craft breweries - Sleeman, Okanagan Spring and Unibroue. In 2006, the company was acquired by Sapporo Breweries Ltd. and today offers the full Sleeman line of beer as well as beers including Old Milwaukee and Pabst Blue Ribbon.

If wine is more your drink of choice, consider visiting Cox Creek Cellars, located just ten minutes north of Guelph on Highway 6. Their selection of fruit wines range from dry to sweet to sparkling, and are available in apple, black currant, cherry, cranberry, and grape. All the fruits are grown locally, whether right at the winery or from area farmers.

The number “64” on the cap of Sleeman Cream Ale bottles is the page number of the recipe from the book belonging to the current owner’s great, great grandfather who started the company in 1832.
Sports and Recreation

Guelph has so many opportunities to get active – whether hiking or biking on one of the many trails, canoeing on the river, enjoying a round of golf, skating downtown at Market Square, or just getting out and cheering on one of our many sports teams.

Heritage features include Allan Mill, Goldie Mill, IODE Fountain, Blacksmith Fountain, and John McCrae Gardens.

Exhibition Park is the oldest park in Guelph. It was established in 1871 when the land was purchased for the city’s annual exhibition. Originally it included a horse race track, exhibition building and livestock sheds. Today it includes a baseball diamond, soccer field, a wading pool, playground and arena with seasonal skating.

Riverside Park features one of Canada’s largest mechanical floral clocks, a carousel, a miniature train, paddleboat rentals, sports fields, picnic areas, an accessible playground, a large band shell, and various pavilions.

Preservation Park, or Hanlon Creek Park, is a 27 hectare, bike-free area of looping trails through forest and wetlands.

Royal City Park runs along the Speed River and has a pavilion, plus an ice cream shop located at the Boathouse where you can also find canoe or kayak rentals from Speed River Paddling.

The Royal Recreational Trail is a 2.5m wide, six section trail system that meanders through parks, school sites, and open spaces within the city.

Eight parks throughout the city have designated leash-free pet zones - they are within Riverside Park, Eramosa River Park, Norm Jary Park, Lee Street Park, Margaret Greene Park, Centennial Park, Crane Park and John Gamble Park.
